LOG FORKS

Rugged & Reliable

Brightwater Log Forks are engineered to be the most rugged and reliable Log Forks on the market. For more than 30 years, Brightwater Log Forks have set the standard for productivity and toughness in the field, featuring a single section design with internal trusses for added strength. Made from mild steel plate, the Log Forks remain flexible without cracking and future hard facing either in the field or workshop remains straightforward. All pins and bushes are hardened and line bored for longevity and reduced maintenance.

All Brightwater products are supported with full service and parts back up through our nationwide branch network and distribution partners.
